

दो Mutthi Aahaar | Parvaah - The journey so far...

Benu Malhotra

PARVAAH, an NGO founded by brother-sister duo—Ishan and Simar Malhotra. They encouraged their friends to join the organization and since then it is the student community which has been running and managing all its social welfare campaigns.

Parvaah's flagship campaign “दो Mutthi Aahaar”

The Parvaah team, in association with SERWA, launched the drive “दो Mutthi Aahaar”, which was carried out to collect grains for the poor and the underprivileged at Sarvodaya Enclave on 10th June, in New Delhi. The “दो Mutthi Aahaar” drive was conceptualized and spearheaded by Ishan Malhotra-Class 10 of JPIS, Vandana Vishwanathan-Class 11 of MIS and Madhav Mittal-Class 11 of MIS. The participants came out in droves and supported the cause. These kids went to each and every house where they were welcomed with warm hearts and big packets were handed over to them. Then the kids mixed all pulses to make KHICHDI packets. The children felt good and gained a sense of achievement. A portion of the collected packets was distributed by the kids in the Begumpur Blind School and the remaining was given away to the construction workers, laborers and other needy people in Sarvodaya Enclave.

A new world of Terror

Aaryandeep Singh

TODAY, the terror network has grown into a hydra headed phenomenon where if one head is, cut off, another grows in, its, place. These acts of terror are mostly confined to the parts of Asia, Europe and North Africa. The Taliban, Boko Haram, Al-Qaeda and ISIS are organizations born out of particular superpower interventions and invasions. They started as resistance movements based on their ideology of what they think is right. The one thing that connects all the different terrorist groups is their mindless barbaric attacks.

Terrorism attacks the law and order, and integrity and sovereignty of a country. It thrives and wins on: society's mild understanding; the lack of political will and lack of strong laws against terrorism which encourages them and keeps giving them new targets and they strike at will. They fracture communities; scare and force people to change their thinking and their relations with each other. But we must understand that, under no circumstances should we blame or generalize one community for collective accountability for the actions of fraction across the globe. The need of the hour is to think about the factors that have led to the formation of anti-state groups. We must treat each case as unique and not indulge in religion blame games for political gains.

Policies and laws should be strict, new skills and technology should be introduced at investigation levels and there should be an intense follow up and quick decisions. We need to seek solutions and fight against the terror activities motivated by greed and leading to grief on religious pretexts.

Crazy things and wings

Suvitti Khurana

At night,
You will not find me in the room
having a fight,
Instead I will be drawing at my table
With a pencil in my hand concentrated & stable.

I can draw crazy things
Like dogs with wings, Cats blowing fire
And rats replacing an old cars tire

Though I would like a reference
So I could chose my preference
One day I would like to go inside the hunger games
So I could draw Katniss's dress on flames
