243 Children team up for दो Mutthi Aahaar Campaign

Initiated and funded by NGO Parvaah

WHEN INDIVIDUAL FINGERS come together, they form a mighty fist. So is the case with children – the strength in their determination increases tenfold when they all join hands for a cause. This determination increased further when the chief guest, Shri Somnath Bharti Jee appreciated the efforts of the kids and applauded their efforts. He advised the children to make दो Mutthi Aahaar not just a periodic social welfare campaign but a mass movement in the city. He also promised that the Delhi government would support the team Parvaah for this initiative and help promote it in other colonies of Delhi. Along with him, there were senior officials from the World Bank, KPMG and teachers from Shri Ram School.

Sunday, 7th August 2016 was a special day for the residents of Sarvodaya Enclave and Azad Apartments, New Delhi. They witnessed the coming together of over 243 kids to participate in the दो Mutthi Aahaar drive, an anti-hunger initiative launched in both colonies simultaneously. The campaign was started with the purpose of collecting food grains for the needy. Ishan Malhotra, a student of Class 10 at JPIS spearheaded the event along with his team members namely Karan Agarwal, Sheil, Yajur & Madhav Mittal. The food collection drive was followed by a stage show depicting how hunger is a cause of concern for one & all. A brilliant show was put up by Shivam and team. Every child boasted of the strength they had in their “Mutthi” and read out slogans loudly – Aao Dekho Do Mutthi Ka Dum!! One could feel a revolutionary sense of change in the air!

Special thanks to Manisha Aunty of Shriram School, Vasant Vihar and the Sarvodaya Enclave Mandir authorities without whose support this drive would not have been possible.
